Introduction

Welcome to the NIH Employee Engagement SharePoint Site.

This site supports the NIH Employee Engagement Liaisons group (NEEL) by providing workforce management staff the necessary resources and tools to enhance employee engagement activities, share best practices and increase collaboration across the Institutes and Centers (ICs).

Who uses the SharePoint site?

Launched in July 2015, the SharePoint site supports the NIH Employee Engagement Liaisons group (NEEL) members and their activities. The site is available to support anyone interested in employee engagement, retention, and workforce collaboration, including:

- HR Specialists
- Management Analysts
- Supervisors
- Team Leads
- Administrative Officers
- Others

What is NIH Employee Engagement Liaisons group (NEEL)?

The NEEL group is dedicated to promoting collaboration and sharing best practices across workforce management staff related to employee engagement, strategic workforce planning, action planning and Federal Employee Viewpoint Survey (FEVS).

Why use the SharePoint site?

The SharePoint site provides workforce management staff the necessary tools and resources to focus on employee engagement activities. Through a compilation of research articles, books, webcasts and presentations on employee engagement, members of the site are able to create action planning strategies and identify best practices for their ICs. The site is updated weekly with free training resources posted on various topics that touch on human capital, workforce planning, employee engagement and action planning. Supervisors and team leads benefit by learning about non-monetary strategies for recognizing employees as well as specific and actionable ideas for engaging their employees on an individual level.

The site is often used as a collaboration tool for ICs to share best practices and communication plans for a range of topics including the Federal Employee Viewpoint Survey (FEVS), Public Service Recognition Week (PSRW) and action planning. Members can post documents directly onto the site by selecting the appropriate topic and contact subject matter experts from different ICs across NIH.

The Value of the SharePoint Site

Every year, OPM conducts a Federal Employee Viewpoint Survey (FEVS) of permanent federal employees that measures their engagement and satisfaction with their immediate work environment or office in various performance categories, including: work experience, work/life, leadership, diversity and inclusion. The tools below are meant to help your IC promote the survey and increase participation in order to gather feedback that will help ensure the NIH excels at providing a safe, effective, and engaging workplace for all employees.

Public Service Recognition Week (PSRW) is organized annually by the Public Employees Roundtable and its member organizations, through the Partnership for Public Service. The annual campaign is conducted in May and is a time set aside to honor the men and women who serve our nation as federal, state, and local government employees. These tools below are meant to help your IC promote the PSRW campaign by building a positive image of government service and the work each NIH employee performs to advance NIH's mission.
